Off-Campus Employment authorization is intended to address situations where a financial need beyond the student’s control arises. These are situations which were unforeseen at the time the student applied for admission to MTU. It must also be demonstrated that all other current or potential employment opportunities have proven insufficient. To be eligible, the student must have maintained their status and completed one full academic year of course work. If your application is approved, you will be granted one full year of work authorization. If you need more work time, you must reapply to renew this authorization.

There are specific categories for circumstances justifying work authorization for economic hardship. Examples include:

1. Substantial fluctuations in the value of the currency or exchange rate from its present value as compared with when the student originally applied,
2. Extreme increases in tuition and/or living expenses,
3. Unexpected changes in the economic status of the student’s financial sponsor,
4. Natural disasters – earthquakes, tsunamis, hurricane,
5. Acts of war or terrorism,
6. Medical bills,
7. Other substantial and unexpected expenses.
